

SHE'S GOT CLIENTS

The Energetic Clearing and Alignment Ritual for Calling in Soulmate Clients

CLEARING:

Protection prayer - waking up, before bed, before lives, before engaging with people: "I am the light (imagine moving up into the light, source above), the light is within you (imagine the light going right into your heart), the light moves through you, and the light surrounds and protects you." Imagine this channeled light absolutely protecting you. This prayer protects you from any other energy that's not for your highest good. It cannot come in. But you can let loving, supportive, abundant energy in. Also ask Archangel Michael to surround and protect you. Then one more, "the light surrounds and protects you." In addition to this prayer, put a gold bubble around your energy. No one can plug into you when that bubble is up.

Then clear your energy of anything that is not your own or is not serving you. Ask that to be cleared. Also ask for any anxiety, fears, and worries to clear. Imagine a gold light coming down from source moving down you, pushing down all the way to the bottom of your feet and into the core of the earth, as roots going down. Ask the energy to get transmuted to the universal good of all. Do this a few times a day. This will help you be more in sync with your intuition and more engaged with your power, and help you feel better. Your guides will clear everything out.

Your energetics are an incredible gift. You can channel but to do that you need to keep your energetics and your channel clear. And lift the energetic lid on you. Imagine the energy flow and align. This will also help you feel more inspired.

To disconnect from global consciousness, imagine unplugging from it and sinking into your energy and then plugging it right into your soul right above you.

When you start to feel agitated, that is energy coming up that is not in alignment with the success you're creating, so you can just release it through that gold light.

You now have the tools where you don't need to stay depleted or live in the constant swirl of other people's energy.

SHE'S GOT CLIENTS

RAMPAGING:

Many times a day, sit in the energy of where you want to be and override reality. Ask your guides to align you with the energy of financial abundance and success, and the expansion of your work out into the world. Then go into the imagery.

“OMG I have so many people here. I have more than [X number]. What was I worried about. I'm grateful that I allowed this in.” Be very specific, Have the image of you launching your offer. Looking at the people, engaging with them, the money flowing into your bank account, the fulfillment you'll feel, the gratitude you'll feel. Imagine having convos with people who are saying “Wow I had no idea how [X marketing strategy] could be, this is incredible.” Thinking “Wow, I attracted the people that I really resonate with. I love these people, I love working with them. We are such a good fit.” Really feel like it's happening now. Sink into the excitement behind it. Anything getting in the way of that energy is going to bubble up to be released. The energy will then present to be released. Ask that any energy that is not in alignment with bringing in the [X number] of clients, is cleared along with this energy that is not yours.

Align with financial abundance and financial freedom. Pump it in every day. Get to the place where you are SO certain and grateful that this will happen, that anything not so great that comes up, it doesn't matter, because you've already aligned the energy. "I always make [X amount] or more every month in your business, it only goes up. I am supported and I am loved. I am the wealthy woman. I am a million dollar woman. I am abundant. I deserve this, I am this, I am worthy of this, I believe. It is already done and it is certain. I am buying my dream house with my friends and family all around. I am finally feeling on purpose in my business and aligned with the right, perfect clients. They are successful, good hearted women. They love to pay me, they easily pay me, they happily pay me. They stay engaged and they show up. They come to the calls, participate and come to the retreats. They get amazing results and tell their friends. It just keeps growing and growing. My energetic maximum keeps going up and up. I am so grateful. I believe and know I can have this. My work is of high, high service and worthy of massive compensation. I finally feel super passionate about my business and plugged into my purpose. I am excited waking up every day to work and to work with these perfect fit clients. It is already all done on the spiritual plane and is now manifesting on the physical plane."

You can also imagine pulsating energy out to the FB ads (or whichever marketing tool you're using) and then magnetizing the people to you that are going to fill your group.

SHE'S GOT CLIENTS

SENDING OUT ENERGETIC PINGS:

It's 90% energy and frequency and 10% strategy.

We're taught not to value the spiritual/energetic pieces, but they can make our lives easier.

It's about sending an intentional thought form to another person for the purpose of making an invitation or creating communication - ie relaying a message. (Our brains are sending out thought forms all the time - usually unconsciously - but we can direct them.)

Your offer and your messaging DO need to be on point first - otherwise it will be harder.

NO messing with others' free will. No attempting to influence them, or "get" them to do something. It's up to YOU to discern what this means for you, and how you're going to use it (or not).

How to begin: 1. Change consciousness in some way, 2. Clear intention (clarity of outcome), 3. Direct the energy (beaming it out from your mind.)

Being on the fence of "Will it or won't it work" will mess up the energy - be certain. Stay out of energy of being pushy and sales-y and desperate (people can pick up on it.) Be confident, loving, and unattached.

Step 1: What's the outcome you want (try to be specific.) Which program and how many people do you want?

Step 2: Make a list of all the people you know who you think might be a great fit for your program. We will never 100% know for sure, but you have hunches. This helps you start creating the vibrational tone and energetic imprint on the field of what the group will be. It starts the magnetizing process. Manifesting 101 - what we put out there is what we will get back. You get back what you vibrationally put out. What you want already exists, but your perception will block it out when the energy is misaligned.

Step 3: Create the energetic container. Visualizing it creates a vibration, and you also want to imagine receiving the energy of the clients as they sign up. Create a picture in your mind. It could be a zoom screen, or it could be something else. Women around a beautifully set table. You can be creative here. Spend 10-20 minutes. Infuse it with the energy that you want it to have. What kind of energy will you have going on in the program, that your clients would also want? Is it clarity, confidence, leadership, all the monies? All of the above? Infuse it with your intention. This is part of what is going to send out the energetic pings as it is up there hanging out. You can also in addition to this create a physical representation. I usually keep it simple and use a notebook with blank spaces to fill in the names of those who join. Some people use a whiteboard and put blank hearts and then people's names in them as they join. Some people drop a crystal into a bowl. This is totally up to you.

SHE'S GOT CLIENTS

Next, you can give a gentle energetic nudge to the people on the original list. This is up to you as far as if you want to visualize specific people. The danger is it can cross over into the pushy, manipulative side. We want to be about inviting, not being all attached. "Here's my table, wanna sit?" If yes cool, if not, that's cool too. Plus you can hold yourself back from getting new people you don't know yet coming in if you're limiting it to just people you know of.

Personally, I prefer not focusing on specific people so much, and more focusing on the energy of the type of people I want. I see bodies, but they are energetic forms. Get into a gentle meditative state, and envision the person in your mind. And then you can literally say, "Hey, check this out!" Or even just "Hey!" by itself. Imagine yourself tossing that loving "hey" at them, from your heart. And they're excited, because they are going to receive it. So if your marketing is tight and spot on, they are going to see it and they are going to be called to reach out. Or they will simply think of you. Again, we're not trying to push them or convince them or cajole them. It's gentle.

Then, think again of your energetic container. Again, you can picture it as a zoom screen, a table, a circle, a gathering, whatever. For example, if as part of your launch you want to fill a FB group, you can think of calling people into the FB group. Imagine the energetic container being full. Then you create the short message, "Come on in." And infuse it with the intention and energy of the exact right people. Then you imagine it traveling through space and coming into contact with people you don't even know. Again, it's like, "Look here." Then you allow them to come to you. You can do this once or twice.

Then, you release. It doesn't mean you completely forget about it all - you keep marketing, but you stay unattached. The marketing impresses the field as well, and will give you clients back.

Finally, celebrate each and every person who signs up!

SHE'S GOT CLIENTS

BONUS TIPS:

SATS: State Akin to Sleep. Neville Goddard process of visualizing "living in the end" - seeing what you want as if it is already here. Best to do in the drowsy state before falling asleep at night. Be sure to FEEL the emotions and feelings as you picture what you want being your reality.

Wayne Dyer Manifesting Meditations: "Ah" (morning) and "Om" (evening) meditations - these are on YouTube.

Reminders on phone: You can schedule these to pop up at specific times or when you are in specific places. For example: "My work is of high, high service and worthy of massive compensation." "My offers are infused with love and light, they sell quickly, they sell easily." "You're about to receive more money than you could ever imagine."